OLD STORY OVER AGAIN.
When I was a maid,
Nor of lovers afraid,
My mother cried, "Girl, never listen to men."
Her lectures were long,
But I thought her quite wrong.
And said I, "Mother, whom should I listen to thee?"

Now teaching, in turn,
What I never could learn,
I find, like my mother, my lessons all vain;
Moo ever deceive,
Silly maidens believe,
And still 'tis the old story over again.

So humbly they woo,
What can poor maidens do
But keep them alive when the sweet they must die?
Ah, who can forbear,
As they weep in despair,
Their crocodile tears in compassion to dry?

Yet, wedded at last,
When the honeymoon's past,
Lovers forsake us, the husbands remain.
Our vanity's checked,
And we never can expect
They will tell us the old story over again.

PASTOR COMBS

And Presiding Elder Mann to Hold
Series of Meetings at Second
M. E. Church

A series of special meetings will begin at the Second M. E. Church, South, on Sunday, February 25th. The Pastor will preach during the first week of the meetings and beginning Monday night, March 4th, Dr. E. G.
B. Mann, Presiding Elder of the Maysville District, will begin the preaching and continue until the meetings close.

Notice is given to the public thus early,
in order that those interested in the meetings may begin now to plan and pray for a great revival, and also that Pastors of other churches in the city who may be planning or special meetings may arrange their dates, if they wish, so as not to conflict with ours.

We entreat the prayers and co-operation of all Christian people in Maysville that this may

A TRUTHFUL ADAGE

Bread Cast Upon the Waters
Returns After Many Days

Some years ago, while ice-bound in the harbor here, Captain Gordon Green of the Green line of steamboats was the guest of Manager Daugherty of the Central Hotel during his enforced sojourn at this point. Of course he received royal treatment during his stay at the hotel, which, evidently, has remained a pleasant memory with the genial Captain, as evidenced by a recent courteous act.

For a week past Manager Daugherty has been in a peck of trouble on account of the boiler attached to his heating apparatus being ruined by a careless fireman and necessitating the purchase of a new boiler.

The boiler was shipped on the steamer Chilo at Cincinnati Saturday and started for this city. The boat reached Ripley, where she was ordered to tie up on account of the river being full of heavy floating ice.

Greatly disappointed at the turn in affairs, Mr. Daugherty called up Captain Green over the long distance phone and explained his unfortunate situation, stating that the hotel was without heat and cold as an icicle, and asked him if he could not come to his relief by sending the boat on to Maysville.

The request was complied with, and Captain Edgington, in command of the Chilo, was ordered to fight his way here through the ice, which he did, though in imminent danger of being cut down and sunk.

Mr. Daugherty is very grateful to Captain Green for his kindly aid in helping him out of his dilemma.

The Hotel Company is under many obligations to Mr. George H. Traxel for valuable service rendered in placing the plant in running order again.

Everything is again o. k., house heated and everybody happy.

side the "freez." at Copenhagen.

MAYSVILLE CITIZENS SHOULD WEIGH WELL

Proof of merit lies in the evidence.
Convincing evidence in Maysville.
It is not the testimony of strangers.
But the endorsement of Maysville people.
That's the kind of proof given here—
The statement of a Maysville citizen.

William H. Paul, 333 East Third street,
Maysville, Ky., says:
"For two years I had pains in my back and other troubles, caused by disordered kidneys.
When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention I began their use and they soon brought relief. I cheerfully recommend this remedy to one that lives up to the claims made for it."

The above statement was given on December 18th, 1904, and on February 6th, 1906,
Mr. Paul said:
"My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills has not changed since I first recommended them. My back has been permanent and I am now in good health."

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98% of illness is attended with some form of bowel trouble, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Regular Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. I am so certain of their great curative value that I promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Regular Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and aid in producing a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons, or old folks. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c. Sold only at my store—The Rexall Store Thos. J. Chenoweth, corner Second and Sutton streets.

Everybody knows that the best fed people stand the best chance in the world, if they are careful to keep their stomachs in good trim.

Letha Channing, Lucknow, S. C., says: "In digestion, loss of appetite and general weakness have been troubling me for nine years. When I began taking Vinol a few weeks ago I noticed an improvement in a very short time and now I feel much stronger than I have in years. Vinol has built me up, improved my appetite and digestion, and I am delighted with its splendid results."

You can have your money back if Vinol does not do all we promise you, and certainly this is a generous offer. Let Vinol make you strong. J. C. Peor, Druggist, Maysville, Ky.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running, sore, itching, and watery ear, and when it is closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BATTLE-HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC

MINI eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord; He is tramping out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored; He hath loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible swift sword; His truth is marching on.

I have seen him in the watch-fires of a hundred circling camps; They have builded him an altar in the evening dews and damps; I can read his righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps; His day is marching on.

I have read a fiery gospel, writ in burnished rows of steel; "As ye deal with my contemners, so with you my grace shall deal; Let the hero, born of woman, crush the serpent with his heel, Since God is marching on."

He has sounded forth the trumpet that will never call retreat; He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat; Oh, be swift, my soul, to answer him! be jubilant my feet! Our God is marching on.

In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea, With a glory in his bosom that transfigures you and me; As he died to make men holy, let us die to make men free, While God is marching on. —Julia Ward Howe.

LINCOLN WAS SOFT HEARTED

Throughout the War It Cut Him to the Quick to Have to Sign a Death Warrant.

In the American Magazine Ida M. Tarbell has told a really great Lincoln story. It is presented in the form of recollections of Lincoln, told by Billy Brown, a Springfield, Ill., druggist, who knew Lincoln intimately. Following is an extract from a talk Lincoln once gave his old friend Brown. It is presented just as Brown told it:

"Then there's that pardoning business. Every now and then I have to fix it up with Stanton or some officer for pardoning so many boys. I suppose it's pretty hard for them not to have all their rules lived up to. They've worked out a lot of laws to govern this army, and I s'pose it's natural enough for 'em to think the most important thing in the world is havin' 'em obeyed. They've got it fixed so the boys do everything accordin' to regulations. They don't even let 'em die of something that ain't on the list—got to die accordin' to the regulations! But by jingo, Billy, I ain't goin' to have boys shot accordin' to no dumb regulations! I ain't goin' to have a butcher's day every Friday in the army if I can help it. It's so what they say, that I'm alwa's lookin' for an excuse to pardon some body. I do it every time I can find a reason. When they're young or when they're green or when they've been worked on by Copperheads, or when they've got disgusted lyin' still and come to think we ain't doin' our job—when I see that I ain't goin' to have 'em shot."

"And then there's my leg cases. I've got a drawerful. They make Holt maddest—says he ain't any use for cowards. Well, generally speakin', I ain't, but I ain't sure what I'd do if I was standin' in front of a gun, and more'n that, as I told Holt one day, if Almighty God gives a man a cowardly pair of legs how can he help their running away with him?"

"THE SUN SHINES BRIGHT ON MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME."

The Lincoln in Legend

THE Lincoln legends are many and various. We have them, as with all great names, humorous, pathetic, tragic, epic. Supernatural likewise, ascribing an influence in his career to signs and omens. Noah Brooks, his Biographer, says was also one of his intimates, says of Lincoln that by nature he was very superstitious, and attributes this to his backwoods upbringing. He gives us two or three instances in line with this assertion which we may take for they are worth. The first refers to Lincoln's second trip to New Orleans, when he and Dennis Hanks, his cousin, took a flatboat down the river to that port for Denton Offutt. "There is a tradition," says Brooks, "that during this visit to Louisiana (in May, 1831, when he was 22), Lincoln met an aged negress, who pretended to be a voodoo queen or fortune teller, and that she said to him: 'You will some day be president and all the negroes will be free.' But this is not authenticated. It is not unlikely that the woman had said the same thing to a great many young men."

The other story is of darker portent and more positive particulars. It is of the year 1860, the time of his first election as president, "Lincoln," says our authority, "took his election with a composure not untinged with sadness. A tremendous responsibility was now to be placed on him. The south had openly and repeatedly threatened to break up the union. . . . He was oppressed with many weighty and anxious thoughts. On the day the news came of his triumph a strange thing happened to him. Years after, when he had been nominated a second time to the presidency, he told this story to the writer:

"It was just after my election in 1860, when the news had been coming in thick and fast all day and there had been a great 'Hurrah boys!' so that I was well tired out and went home to rest, throwing myself down on a lounge in my chamber. Opposite where I lay upon a bureau, with a swinging glass upon it (here he got up and placed the furniture to illustrate the position), and, looking in that glass I saw myself reflected nearly at full length; but my face, I noticed, had two separate and distinct images, the tip of the nose of one being about three inches from the tip of the other. I was a little bothered, perhaps startled, and got up and looked in the glass, but the illusion vanished.

"On lying down again I saw it a second time—plainer, if possible, than before; and then I noticed that one of the faces was a little paler, say five shades, than the other. I got up and the thing melted away, and I went off, and in the excitement of the hour, forgot all about it—nearly, but not quite for the thing would, once in a while, come up and give me a little pang, as though something uncomfortable had happened. Later in the day I told my wife about it, and a few days after I tried the experiment again, when (with a laugh), sure enough the thing came back again; but I never succeeded in bringing the ghost back after that, though I once tried very industriously to show it to my wife, who was worried about it. She thought it a 'sign' that I was to be elected to a second term of office and that the paleness of one of the faces was an omen that I should not see life through the last term."

Lincoln studied the problem for a while, the writer goes on to say, and came to the conclusion that it was an optical illusion caused by a flaw in the mirror. Mr. Lincoln, however, he says, continued to take it as a warning. He had told the story before, he says, in an article in Harper's Magazine for July, 1895, while Mr. Lincoln was yet alive.

This same biographer mentions also the fact that at the cabinet meeting of the fateful April 14, 1865, the day he was killed, the president spoke of a "strange dream" he had had the night before; what it was, however, he did not say.

Exposes Sugar Steal

In the sugar investigation, President Taft sent to Congress a letter showing how the trust boosted prices. The retail prices of sugar, varying even in different localities in the same country, generally showed an increase throughout the world between July and November last, attributed to the shrinkage in the Cuban cane crop and prospective shortage in the best crop of Europe. The increase ranged from 1 to 3 cents a pound, averaging about 2 cent on ordinary white sugar. The great range of price quotations is shown by the 4 cents a pound charged in Italy and Spain and 5 cents in Glasgow, Scotland.
